NUMBER 52

A Distinguished Soldier

The following clipping, concerning the army service of Col. Wm. F. Stewart, Jr., was taken from the Louisville Times:

"Col. Wm. F. Stewart, Jr., was born in the Presidio, San Francisco, Cal. Stewart was graduated from the high school in Atlanta, Ga., and the University of Virginia before enlisting in the army in 1898. His advancement was rapid until December 6, 1917, when he was made Colonel of the Coast Artillery, National Army, and took the 61st Regiment to France. He commanded this regiment until after the armistice was signed and was detached when the organization was returned to the United States, in December, 1918. After that he served temporarily at several stations in France, until summoned in February last to command the trains of the 1st Division."

Col. Stewart is a son of Col. Wm. E. Stewart, Sr., who at present resides in Washington, D. C., and he himself has been in the service of his country since he reached his majority. The grandfather of Col. Wm. Stewart, Gen. Joseph Stewart, was a brother of Miss Sallie Stewart, of Columbia. He graduated from West Point when quite a young man, and was a distinguished soldier from the time he left West Point, until he died, some fifteen or eighteen years ago. So proficient was he that he was rapidly promoted until he was commissioned a General. During the latter years of his life he occasionally visited his sisters in this place, and is remembered by some of the older residents of this town. It seemed natural for the male members of this Stewart family to enter the army, and, being ambitious, and possessing superior educations, they were rapidly promoted until they reached the top.

Russell Creek Association Has a Record-Breaking Session.

By all odds, the meeting of Russell Creek Association, held with Pleasant Ridge Church, Green county, last week was a record breaker. At the very outset the body dispensed with the reading of the letters, which has always been a tiresome, and tedious task, by appointing a committee to digest them and report back at some future hour. The rules were then suspended and one ballot was cast re-electing the old officers to preside at this session. Reports were all read, and discussed under one general head. The introductory sermon was preached by L. C. Kelly, pastor of the Campbellsville church. The doctrinal sermon by Rev. W. W. Horner, of Greensburg. Rev. J. W. Beagle, one of the State evangelists spoke in behalf of the Baptist, $75,000,000 campaign. The whole afternoon of the first day was taken up with the campaign. It was one of the great hours in the history of the Association when the representatives of the churches agreed to try to raise the amounts asked them by the Executive Board. Campbellsville agreed to raise $50,000; Greensburg, $20,000; Columbia, $10,000; Mt. Gilead, $3,000; Friendship, $5,000; Zion, $5,000; Milltown, $3,000; East Fork, $5,000; Society Hill, $1,500; Greasy Creek and Pierce, $5,000 each; Pleasant Valley, $7,500. (The entire amounts of all the churches in the Association will be given in next issue of this paper.)

A committee was appointed to go to Georgetown in November and request the State Association to give Russell Creek Academy not less than $200,000 as its part of the amount allotted to the Baptist schools of the State.

The constitution was so changed as to create an Executive Board to be composed of one member from each church in the Association, instead of five men from the entire Association as heretofore. The following member were elected: Mt. Gilead, R. G. Elmore; Zion, Melvin Conover; Friendship, W. N. McCubbin; Campbellsville, L. C. Kelly; Greensburg, W. W. Horner; Columbia, B. F. Chewing; East Fork, Curt Bell; Macedonia, S. H. Chaudoin; Palestine, B. F. Caffey; Milltown, R. L. Caldwell; Trammels Creek, H. A. Curry; Greasy Creek, E. H. Henderson; Red Lick, J. T. England; Society Hill, L. D. Garman; Pleasant Valley, T. H. Skaggs; Big Creek, John Yates; Pleasant Ridge, W. H. Graham; Salem, W. W. Sanders; Charity, S. L. Fisher; Elk Horn, Mont Burton; Russell Creek, B. T. Judd; Sulphur Springs, B. H. Hubbard; Price's Creek, Henry Wilson; Cane Valley, S. L. Banks; Gradyville, Ed Baker; Harrods Fork, N. R. Roach; Liberty, Sanford Miner; Bethlehem, W. E. Hood; Good Hope, Luther Mitchell; Summersville, Frank Larimore; Beech Grove, J. T. Underwood; Pink Ridge, Walter Hubbard; New Salem, A. B. Mayes; Lone Valley, J. W. Davis; Leatherwood, Roy Walker. The District Board reported that during the year they had employed Rev. J. S. Ray, who had been on the field for five months and was surpassing all expectation in his work. Fifty dollars was added to his salary.

It was unanimously voted to put the Russell Creek Baptist in every Baptist house in the Association from now till January next. This was done for the purpose of enlightening the people on the big drive.

Five per cent. of the Seventy-Five million is to be raised by the women of the South. This means that Russell Creek Women are asked to raise five per cent. of what is asked of the Association.

The Association voted to go to Society Hill in Metcalfe County next year, and Rev. T. S. Curry is to preach the introductory sermon. The messengers were unanimous in saying that it was the busiest, biggest and best Association in the entire history of the body. Speeches were all to the point and no time was killed. Evangelist, J. W. Beagle, said that the Drowned in Green River.

W. T. Waters, aged 80 years, saved his life last Monday week by knowing how to swim. He, in company with Verne Phillips, a boy 16 year old, attempted to cross Green river, at Page's Ford. They were in a buggy and did not know that the river had swollen and could not be forded. They were washed down stream a considerable distance, and finally Waters jumped into the stream and swam to shore and Phillips and the horse were drowned. Up to Tuesday afternoon Phillips body had not been recovered.

Spirit of the meeting surpassed anything he had seen in the entire State. It was a fine start in the race for the victory to end Dec seventh. The Association is surely beginning to girt herself for victory.

The body of Verne Phillips, who was drowned in Green river, last Monday week, has been found.

New Presiding Elder.

Rev. T. J. Wade, the Presiding Elder, of the Columbia District, and his wife, are now located on Garnett Avenue. Rev. Wade is a native of Russell county, and is a minister who stands high in the Louisville Conference. He was partly educated in Columbia, and was licensed to preach while here. He is a very entertaining speaker, zealous in his work, and his pleasant manner in conversation will evidently soon win him many friends. His wife is an elegant lady and a true helpmate to her husband. We are glad to have them in our midst, trusting that Rev. Wade will receive many into the Church during his reign as Presiding Elder of Columbia District.

More About Pikes.

Would it not be a good idea for the people of Adair county to get together, and see what can be done toward building a pike from here to Creelboro? and it would not be a mad idea to figure on one from Columbia to Russell Springs. If we get these roads it will take something more than talk. Furthermore, if the money can be raised and these roads built, it will make this town one of the liveliest business places in all this part of Kentucky, and every acre of ground in Adair county will be greatly enhanced. Let some man take the lead.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Picket, who have been living in Campbellsville, for three or four months, have returned to Columbia, and are occupying rooms in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, on Greensburg street.

Messrs. R. D. and T. A. Judd, and the former's wife and baby, of Jellico, Tenn., arrived last Saturday, on a short visit. Sunday forenoon the Messrs. Judd spoke at the Baptist church in the interest of the $75,000,000 drive. These gentlemen are sons of Mr. J. H. Judd, of this place. They stand high as moral, upright citizens, and have been zealous in Church work from their youth up. The local church here is to raise ten thousands dollars, and the members present were told by the speakers how easily the money could be secured. Their speeches were well received, and will evidently have a good effect.

Mr. M. E. Traylor, of this place, has purchased 81 acres of land lying one mile from West Point, Miss., and will remove to it between now and Christmas. He paid $110 per acre. Mr. Traylor is one of our best citizens and we regret to have to part with him.

Hands are now at work, laying off lots and making streets in that part of the Tutt addition recently sold to the Henry Realty Company. As soon as the plat has been put in proper shape the lots will be sold to the highest bidder. Next Saturday will be the day.

In Memory of Eunice May McLean

When it seemed like life was unfolding in its beauty, Jesus whispered to this precious child to come unto him. She had suffered enough. Eunice May entered into eternal rest at the hour of 11 o'clock, on Monday night October, 6th, 1919, at the age of 10 years 11 months, 6 days. The deceased child was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McLean, and their only child. She had been in declining health for several months, and physician had exhausted their skill and knowledge to restore her, but their efforts were unavailing and the disease failed to yield, although tender in years. Eunice May was a dutiful and industrious child. She loved flowers and fancy work, and all the little arrangements, decorations in and about the home showed touches of her handiwork, and these small remembrances will ever be vivid there, to behold by her sorrowing father and mother.

The funeral service which was held at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, was beautiful and touching. Ten or twelve girls, little friends of the deceased child, followed her remains down the aisle, and carried the flowers that covered the snow white casket. The Rev. R. V. Bennet said the funeral service, his comforting words will long be remembered and cherished by the bereft ones. The thought of meeting their loved one with the angels is an inspiration. The services were concluded at the grave, and the ground was carpeted over with those tokens which Eunice May loved so well in life—beautiful flowers.

Father and mother let your lives here be, so that when you pass over, your precious child will be waiting and watching on the other shore to welcome you to that home over there.

THE HARPE.

Leeper was one of those, who fired upon Smith and the Harpes, near the Harpes' camp, and the ram rod of his gun having gotten wet, he could not reload. He said to Tompkins that this (Leeper's) horse was already falling, and that unless Tompkins' horse could overtake Harpe, that Harpe would escape, but, that if Tompkins would exchange horses and guns with him that he would undertake to out ride Harpe and to bring him down. Tompkins consented to the exchange, and Leeper armed with Tompkins' rifle and mounted upon his horse passed at a furious gallop across the creek and through the thick woods and bottom, when he gained an open country and came in sight of Harpe. He was very soon within thirty yards of him. Harpe warned him, that, if he did not stand off that he would kill him. Leeper replied, "One of us must die and the hardest fend off." Leeper put his mount to full speed and got within ten steps of Harpe, when he sprang to the ground and immediately took aim and fired. Harpe instantly wheeled his gray mare around and leveled his rifle upon Leeper, but it snapped and failed to fire. He then wheeled the mare, dropped his rifle and again went forward with all speed. Leeper remounted and followed, and when he came near, again, Harpe threatened to use a pistol upon him, but in a moment, he ceased to urge the mare forward and grasped the pommel of his saddle to save himself from falling to the ground. Leeper then dashed up to him and jerked him to the ground. The chase had stretched over a distance of ten miles from the Harpes' camp. It is related that Big Harpe crossed Pond river in his flight at a place called Free Henry Ford, and was finally killed in Muhlenberg county, near Harpe's Hill. An oak tree, which stood on the bank of the Boat Yard creek on the road leading from Harpe's Hill to Free Henry Ford, tradition says, to have been the scene of the death of Big Harpe. Harpe begged Leeper to spare his life, to protect him and to take him to the courts for a trial. Leeper assured him that he had nothing further to fear from him, but, that Stigall was approaching and that he feared that Stigall could not be restrained. Harpe apparently was greatly perturbed, at the information, that Stigall was near at hand. Tompkins, Stigall and the others came up one by one in accordance with the fleetness of the steeds upon which they rode. Two rifle bullets had penetrated the back of Harpe and emerged near the breast bone. That Leeper fired one of these shots seems to be certain, but which of the pursuers fired the other has never been known. Col. Daniel Trabue's chronicle says that Col. William Christian fired one of the shots which wounded Harpe, but, as to this, no other account of it has ever included the name of Christian, as being of those, who were present and engaged in the pursuit. Upon the arrival of Stigall, at the place, where Harpe was lying upon the ground, he at once undertook to shoot Harpe through the head to finish him, but Harpe, by continuously moving his head backward and forward and sidewise, prevented him. Stigall then placed the muzzle of his rifle against the heart of the desperado and upon its discharge, he died instantly. The pleadings of Harpe, that his life be spared, presents a singular phase of such a nature. Here was a human monster, who had been utterly indifferent to the lives of others; whose practice and creed had been to show no mercy to a fellow being; who was preparing to murder his own infant children, but an hour before, and was only prevented from doing so, by the timely arrival of the avengers; now, when presented with the same fate, which he had meted out to so many others, becomes possessed with the fear of death and with hope enough of humanity to think it worth while to beseech mercy of men of a society, which he had cruelly and unmercifully wronged.

Stigall removed the head of Harpe from his body and as a memorial of their abhorrence and detestation of the career and crimes of the man and probably, also, of their vengeance upon him, Leeper and his associates fixed the head upon a pole, which they erected at the intersection of the highways, which connected Henderson, Hopkinsville and Morganfield. The skull and jaw bone remained for many years upon the pole, presenting a ghastly sight to the passersby. The place of the erection of the pole was at that time a wild and lonely place and has since borne the name of Harpe's Head. It is about twenty miles from Henderson. Thus ended the career of the greatest villain who ever figured in the history of Kentucky, and well worthy of a place in the same gallery with the most unscrupulous and unconscionable villains of any age or country.

Morrow's Denial Refuted by Rhea.

Federal Reporter, Official Publication of Court, shows Republican Candidate was in famous Grant County Prosecution of Farmers.

Louisville, Ky. Oct. 13.—Thomas S. Rhea, State Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, has issued a statement supporting his charge that Edwin P. Morrow, Republican candidate for Governor, prosecuted the cases against five tobacco growers of Grant county who were charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law by combining to secure better prices for the tobacco they raised.

Morrow, in a speech at Winchester, Wednesday night, denied that he was in these cases.

Mr. Rhea quotes the Federal Reporter on him.

Mr. Rhea also calls on Morrow to answer two questions. These are:

Did Morrow Protest Against the Pardon of these Grant County Farmers 'Just Before They were Pardoned by President Taft?

Did Morrow, while United States District Attorney, Prosecute the Tobacco Trust or any Other Trust?

WHAT MR. RHEA SAYS:

Mr. Rhea's statement follows: "Mr. Morrow, in his speech in Winchester, called in question the statement made by Congressman Cantrill and myself, when we charged that he prosecuted five farmers and tobacco growers under the Sherman anti-trust law. And he says that if we had investigated we would have known the facts.

"I have made an investigation, and find on page 1, Volume 192, Federal Reporter, that on December 5, 1911, the case of the United States against John S. Steers and other farmers, was affirmed in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and this record shows that the following attorneys participated in the trial of this case:

W. W. Dickerson (Clare, Dickerson and Clayton, and Myers and Howard, on the brief), for plaintiff in error; E. P. Grosvenor, special Assistant Attorney General (James A. Fowler, Assistant Attorney General, and EDWIN P. MORROW, United States Attorney, on the brief,) for the United States.

"Will Mr. Morrow deny that this is a correct record of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals? If this is a true record, then Mr. Morrow did prosecute Mr. Steers and the other farmers under the Sherman anti-trust law.

"Mr. Morrow, tell the people of Kentucky whether or not, while you were United States District Attorney, you wrote a letter protesting against the pardon of these Grant county farmers a short time before they were pardoned by President Taft?

"Mr. Morrow, did you, while United States District Attorney, prosecute the Tobacco Trust, or any other trust?

"And why didn't you, prosecute the trust which was preventing the farmers of this State from obtaining a fair price for their tobacco?"

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royce City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Kilman, of this place, says; "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot..."

I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me... for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

A Novel Announcement.

At one of the Baptist churches on Sunday morning the pastor was stopped just before he announced his text and a man rose to his feet and said, "Brethren and sisters, don't forget the Baptist 75 Million Campaign," and took his seat.

The next Sunday another rose with a similar announcement and so on each Sunday until people went to hear the announcement and strangers asked, "What is that campaign anyway?"

What will we expect next? The 75 Million Dollar Campaign has caused the Baptist people to start things to moving.

Mr. Ed Yates, of Bowling Green, accompanied by his brother, Burton, of Columbia, visited their old Uncle Charlie and their cousin Ella, of our city, last Saturday. They certainly were glad to see them. Uncle Charlie, while he is in his old age his memory of by-gone days is good, and he gets around fine for a man of his age.

Dr. S. Simmons and family, who have been living in our town for the past ten or twelve years and some of our best people, will leave us next Wednesday for their new home in Greensburg. It is universally known that Dr. Simmons is one of the leading physicians of the county and enjoyed all the practice here that he could do. While this is the case with him, his good family was just as popular as he. We regret to give these good people up from our town and community, but our loss is some other people's gain. We commend them most heartily to the people of Greensburg.

First Sgt. John T. Winters and Sgt. Robert E. Sweat spent a few days with Richard Franklin, of our place, the first of the week.

When CALUMET comes in, all baking troubles take quick leave. You go right ahead and mix up baking materials, for biscuits—cakes—anything without fear of uncertainty. Calumet makes you forget failure.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

is the most popular because it does give most perfect results. It has the biggest demand because it is the most dependable. The fact that it is the best seller proves that it is the best. A trial will convince you that there is none "just as good." Buy a can—if you are not satisfied take it back and get your money back. Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved officially by the U. S. Food Authorities.

We are having ideal weather, and every body is busy. Corn cutting is over. Preparing wheat ground and making molasses is the chief occupation at present.

Mr. Price and family have moved to this place, to the property purchased of U. G. Collins. Mr. Collins and family are temporarily located on the Jamestown road, in Mr. E. A. McKinley's house. He expects to purchase a farm as soon as he can find one that suits him.

Mr. Felix McKinley sold his farm recently. He is also looking for a location. He is industrious and if he is blessed with health will make good any where.

News has just reached us that G. L. Blair, who lives near Craycraft, had sold his property to Mr. Dudley Hayes. Mr. Blair is thinking of locating in Indiana. They are splendid people. Mr. and Mrs. Blair are ever ready to wait upon the sick and to minister to any one in need. They will surely be missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Omra Webb will move the first of November, to their home in Taylor, county. We are indeed sorry to give them up we will miss them in our Sun-school and church work, but as they are anxious to go and think it best. We extend to them our best wishes for success and happiness.

Mr. Edgar Ellis, wife and baby visited recently near Campbells-ville.

Lucien Brockman was quite sick several days of last week, but he has rallied to some extent and the physicians seem to think his condition better.

Charlie Parson has moved back to Columbia. He was a good blacksmith, and they were splendid folks and would be glad they had a remained with us.

Last Sunday was a reunion at the home of Mr. A. J. Combest all of his children and grandchildren being present, and one son, whom they had not seen for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Omra Webb and baby, and Miss Irene Murrell visited Emma McKinley last Sunday week.

Messrs. Ola McKinley and family, Felix McKinley and family, Miss Addie McKinley and Etta Bryant spent last Sunday at the pleasant home of Mr. W. C. McKinley, near town.

Mr. L. E. Foster, of Christian county, who recently spoke here in the interest of the State Democratic ticket, is the party nominee for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. There is not a more elegant gentleman in Kentucky. He is a thorough school man—has been the County Superintendent of the schools of Christian county, and his earnestness and thoroughness is known throughout Western Kentucky. He has a number of personal friends in Adair county, and is especially esteemed for his high Christian character. If the male teachers of this part of the state want to see a public system of education that will meet the approval of the entire State, they should vote for Foster.

NAME YOUR MEN, ED.

Governor Black has very properly asked Ed Morrow to name the men in the state payroll who ought not to be there. Morrow says there are 314 of them in places created by the "Stanley administration" for them. Governor Black, in his speech at Hazard, suggests that Morrow name as many as a dozen of the 314 he says are on the payroll.

"Mr. Morrow says there are 314 names on the state payroll that ought not to be there, said the governor. "If that is true, those employees should be done away with. I am entitled to know, and you taxpayers are entitled to know who these 314 are. Mr. Morrow, if you can't name them all, give us the names of a dozen of them."

CLOSE OF VOLUME TWENTY-TWO.

With this issue The Adair County News finishes the twenty-second year of its existence.

It was started in November, 1897, with Mr. C. S. Harris as editor and publisher, and during all these years it has not missed but one issue, and it has been a successful publication from the start. At the beginning the subscription list had to be secured, but in a few years it had a list of eighteen hundred, and at one time we mailed thirty-two hundred to regular subscribers. This list remained with us until the Government forced us to cut the names from our subscription book who were more than one year in arrears. Many of those who were cut off have since paid and now receive the paper weekly. At this time we have nineteen hundred subscribers, and our Job department is running over with work.

We have endeavored to give the people of Adair and adjoining counties the local happenings weekly of this part of the State, and also the State and general news of interest, and developments have proven that the reading public has been satisfied with our efforts.

The News has been Democratic in politics from the start, but it has not at any time been offensive to our Republican brethren, as hundreds of them, as subscribers, read the paper weekly. We are not unmindful that their action is a compliment and we want them to know that their patronage is appreciated.

In October, 1917, Mrs. Barksdale Hamlett, through her husband, purchased the building and outfit from Mr. Harris, and since the death of her husband, she has been the manager of the publication, and it has met with remarkable success, and the business continues to grow.

Since November, 1897, the undersigned has been connected with this paper. For twenty years he assisted Mr. Harris in the editorial and local departments, and was also Mr. Hamlett's assistant while he was editing the paper, and he writes advisedly when he says but few county publications has had greater success than The Adair County News.

In the future it will be our purpose to give all the news worth writing, and to give it clearly and fairly, with no intention to offend a single reader.

Thanking the public we are

Gratefully,
J. E. MURRELL FOR
MRS. HAMLETT.

In regard to Morrow's blanket charges of graft at Frankfort Governor Black made this fair proposition: "I ask him to tell the people of Kentucky who is a grafter at Frankfort. The man who makes such charges ought to know who the guilty men are. I say to Mr. Morrow that if he will start an investigation of any man's conduct, the grand juries and petit juries are ready to do their duty, and as long as I am governor and no state official fairly convicted will be pardoned by me. "Again Governor Black challenged Morrow to tell whether he opposed the ratification of the peace treaty and the League of Nations." Morrow ought in common honesty and justice name these men who are grafters and who hold unnecessary jobs or he ought to stop talking about them, if they do not exist anywhere save in his fertile imagination.

FRIDAY'S SPEAKING.

Hon. E. P. Morrow, the Republican candidate for Governor, had an appointment to speak here last Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, but he spoke at Greensburg at 10 a. m., and did not reach here until almost three, beginning his speech a few minutes later, after being introduced by Judge W. W. Jones.

Mr. Morrow spoke for more than an hour to a court-room crowded mostly by Republicans. A few Democrats heard him, and there were some ladies in the audience.

He spoke along the lines of other addresses he has made over the State, the informed people having read his speech before he delivered it.

He did not think the League of Nations had anything to do with Kentucky politics, and therefore he would not discuss it. He spent a great deal of time, denouncing the Stanley administration, and was exceedingly bitter against what he termed the old gang at Frankfort. While he did not say it, he evidently, from his assertions, thinks something very dishonorable has been going on at Frankfort. His Republican friends who heard him, those who are not familiar with the affairs of the State, think he made a very fine speech; at least many of them so stated. It is easy, you know, to make assertions, but when it comes to proving the same, it is somewhat difficult.

Mr. Morrow is a gifted speaker, and he held his audience until he concluded. During the course of his address he stated that the Republican ticket would be elected, and when he and his running mates go to Frankfort there will be a house cleaning.

Today (Wednesday) Gov. Black will speak from the same stand. Come and hear him. He has a different story to tell.

Japan Leads the World in Universal Education.

Japan has surpassed all other governments of the modern world in its rapid strike toward universal education. Within the past fifty years it has extended educational facilities to all the people, with the result that all its children between the ages of six and twelve are in school, and 98 percent of all the people can read and write. As Japan holds the key to the education of the Orient, the Baptist 75 Million Campaign hopes to so infuse the people there with Christianity that the influence of the Japanese in the Orient will count for the Christian religion.

WHY TAXES ARE HIGH IN KENTUCKY

In the past eight years in Kentucky, 214 new officeholders have been given jobs at an increased cost to you taxpayers of $526,589.00 a year. That is $43,915.00 a month or over $1,440.00 every day including Sundays.

The fire marshal's office costs you taxpayers twice as much under Stanley as under Willson (Republican). In the Agricultural Department Mat Cohen's personal traveling expenses for railroad fares, Pullman, dollar meals, taxis, etc., were $4,153.00 for three years. Salaries in Superintendent Gilbert's department of schools are three times what they were under Willson (Republican).

Increase in Job Holders and Extravagance of Those Already in Office the Cause of Increased Taxes

Leading Democrats say there is no hope of better things under Governor Black.

Justice Carroll said: "The people want a house cleaning at Frankfort. They want to see some new men and some new faces in the offices and departments. They want to get rid of the names that have become familiar only because of long tenure of office. I again repeat and the Democrats of the State know it, that the officeholders have taken possession of him and he has taken possession of them. There is scarcely a county in the State in which they are not bending every effort to secure his nomination. IF HE IS GOVERNOR THERE CAN NOT BE AND WILL NOT BE, ANY BUSINESS REFORMS OR ANY CUTTING DOWN OF UNNECESSARY EXPENSES OR CUTTING OFF OF USELESS OFFICERS OR EMPLOYEES."

Mills M. Logan, former Attorney General, said: "Before he became Governor the officeholders under the present administration put a ring in his nose and have been leading him around ever since."

Democratic Papers Denounce Stanley Administration

The Louisville Post (Dem.) said: "The whole state is clamoring for a man who will 'clean house,' but Mr. Black leaves the house as it is. He has had a great opportunity and he has failed signally and before the whole state to take advantage of it. He is—we speak plainly—a cautious, timid man, who wants office largely for the sake of the office. Under him things would be largely as they are."

The Louisville Courier Journal (Dem.) said: "If he is a strong, able and effective man he will set about at once to cure defects which have blemished the administration of his predecessor. He will make especial effort to destroy suspicions and rumors which are at large to the effect that he has entered into an alliance or understanding with Senator Stanley and the latter's personal adherents by which he is committed to an amiable attitude toward the Stanley record."

KENTUCKY IN THE HOLE

The United States Census Bureau at Washington has just issued a report, "Financial Statistics of States" for 1913 which says that 30 of the 48 States paid all expenses, including interest and money for permanent improvements. Kentucky was not one of the 30. This report also says that Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia not only paid expenses but were a million dollars to the good. Kentucky, within a stone's throw of all of them did not even pay expenses.

At the Old Home.

Mr. Buel Collins and wife, who have been in Texas 37 years, meet about 40 of their old friends and have a great day.

On Oct. 5, 1919, Mr. Buel Collins and wife, of Abeline, Texas, met at the late Tom Collins place in Russell county, where Mr. Julian Long, now lives, about 40 of the former's old neighbors and friends, including one brother, three sisters and other kindred. Mr. Collins was born at this place 57 years ago and lived here until his departure for the West, 37 years ago. He is a brother of Mrs. Geo. Stevenson, Columbia; Mrs. W. S. Antle, Montpelier; Mrs. J. B. Wheat, Denmark; Mr. S. B. Collins, of the Owensby community, and Prof. Uriah Collins, of Texas. Mrs. Collins is a sister of the late Dr. G. W. Perryman, Winchester, Ky. Among those present including some of the neighbors, were Buel Collins and wife; Geo. Stevenson and wife; J. B. Wheat and wife; Sam Browning, wife and little daughter; W. S. Antle and family; Omre Wolford, wife and little son; G. T. Antle and family; S. B. Collins and wife; Ruth, John and Hermon Wilson; D. G. Grider and family; Bill Cook and B. B. Sims. At the noon hour a nice dinner was spread at the "old spring" in which all partook with delight and pleasure, and doubtless calling fresh to memory the many happy incidents of childhood that are forever past and gone.

In the afternoon all repaired to the family graveyard, where after putting flowers on the graves of "dear ones," having pictures made, and a parting good-bye, all took their departure delighted with the events of the day.

REV. JAMES BREEDING.

Rev. James Breeding, local elder of Breeding, Adair County, stands in the forefront of a large and honorable body of local preachers within the bounds of the Columbia District, Louisville Conference, who have left their impress on the generation in which they lived. In person, resembling John Wesley, though taller; a born leader among men. A Methodist was organized in his father's house near the beginning of the 19th century. He became religious in early life.

He was married while yet a young man to Miss Elizabeth Patterson, of Adair county. Her family were Presbyterians. She united with the Methodist Church and their house was the home of the traveling Methodist preacher for more than half a century. They reared a large family of honorable sons and daughters. Rev. Samuel K. Breeding, who for more than thirty-six years was a member of the Louisville Conference, and one of the best all-round men we ever had, and one of the most lovable men I ever knew, was his son. Their children were trained to habits of industry from early childhood, and have become prominent in the different spheres of life in which they moved. He was provident, and instilled the principles of right-living into their hearts. He preached regularly at some point from five to fifteen miles away almost every Sabbath. He preached more funerals, and married more couples than any local preacher I ever knew.

Brother Breeding had a sawmill, and in a bill of 100,000 feet of lumber there would not be found a knot-hole or blemish as large as a silver dollar. He built more churches, put more lumber and money into them than any one else, not only in his home charge, but in his neighboring charges, and among other denominations. I remember that nearly fifty years ago when the Columbia Church, which was then being built was about to be sold for debt, he took hold of it and completed it at a cost to himself of $1,200.

Once when visiting a neighboring charge and dispensing his charity, I asked: "How can you afford to pay so much to these several claims?" He answered: "Soon after Betsey and I were married we agreed to lay by at least one dollar per week for such purposes, and we always have money in the Lord's treasury." Thirty thousand dollars were dispensed by him in building churches. Though not a wealthy man, there was scarcely a time when some young preacher, struggling to rise in the world, was not being helped by him. Rev. Young Ewing, for many years prominent in the Indian Mission Conference as pastor and presiding elder, or as president of some of their schools, was a member of the General Conference which met at Nashville, Tenn., was helped largely by Rev. James Breeding to obtain an education. He made a visit to Brother Breeding just before the session. It was like the meeting of father and son. Ewing told him: "Whatever success I have attained I owe it to you because your help made it possible for me to enter the ministry." And placing his hand upon the head of Ewing, Brother Breeding said: "God bless you, Young; it won't be long until our work is done; be faithful and we will meet by and bye." This is but one of many that he helped, either by furnishing him money or giving him a home. Many such will rise up in a coming day and call him blessed. I asked him once, while his Presiding Elder, to write the sketch of his life, and also of the prominent Methodists he had known in early life. But he excused himself and never did it.

In 1884 or 5, I sent an appointment that Bishop McTear would preach in his home and stay all night with him while on his way to hold my District Conference at Burkesville. When I drove up with the Bishop, he came out to meet him. The Bishop had a beard about an inch long. After speaking, he stroked with his hand the Bishop's beard, and said: "I am surprised to find you with whiskers. Well, well. I suppose I will have to put up with it!" The Bishop enjoyed the visit and spoke of it often.

I never knew a home where a larger hospitality was dispensed nor where an itinerant was more gladly welcomed. Upon several occasions, being belated by travel, I have come in late at night. And sometimes I have gone to his home late at night, put away my faithful horse, and then go to the preacher's room, without any one knowing it until the next morning.

Rev. Timothy C. Frogee, who became his pastor in 1842, and had known him intimately for fifty years, suggested when he preached his funeral, in 1892, that they build a memorial Church, in the village where his life had been spent. In October, 1897, the honor was conferred upon me to dedicate that memorial Church, built to his memory and that of his faithful wife, by his children, kindred and friends. We shall never see his like again. But in the resurrection morn, I expect to hail him, happy in the city of God.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

Known all over America.

The Interior Journal, speaking of Senator Stanley's speech at Pikeville, says: "The speech was thoroughly Stanleyesque, cutting like a two-edged sword and often breaking the blade in the Morrow bowels. While not using the shorter and uglier word, he called Morrow a liar in seven different languages, most diplomatically, and ended by calling him a coward if he failed longer to state his position on the league of nations. The Somerset man must have counted without his host when he decided to attack Stanley and failed to realize that he was calling down wrath upon his head and offering himself for Stanley's ready and incisive ridicule. Morrow comes out of the ordeal looking mighty small and wishing no doubt that he had not thrown discretion to the winds. He will not soon get over the castigation, nor outlive the exposition of the manner of man he is. Of one thing the public may be sure—Edwin P. Morrow, of the county of Pulaski, will never be governor of Kentucky."

ALL SALOONS ARE BACKING MORROW.

Louisville Evening Post.

In an editorial under the caption, "The Saloons for Morrow," The Louisville Evening Post shows how charges that liquor was being sold under the noses of the Louisville Republican machine have been proven true by a handful of federal investigators, though 400 Police of the city, under the control of the Hert-Morrow-Searcy-Chilton machine, could not find any law violated. The Post, in its editorial, says:

"Although national prohibition became effective July 1st, last, there are 400 'saloons' still in operation in Louisville, and the doors of these 'saloons' are now open day and night, Sundays as well as week days.

"We have been told that these saloons have been kept open for the purpose of selling 'soft drinks' and cigars. We make in this connection no blanket charge. It is distinctly possible that some of these saloon-keepers are obeying the law and are refusing to sell whiskey and beer. But it has been common talk in Louisville for weeks that a large amount of alcohol is being sold, and that the police are doing nothing to prevent it.

"Saturday of last week, substance was given to these charges by the action of the Federal government in procuring the arrest of a number of saloonkeepers and bartenders. It is said that other arrests are to follow. The Federal government is overseeing the enforcement of the prohibition over a dozen agents in the city of Louisville. And yet this violation of the law that the 400 policemen of the city of Louisville seem unable to discover.

"Nor is this all. The word has gone out over Louisville that the 'saloons are for Morrow.' And there is solid evidence to support this. Those who enter the saloons will find in many of them a large photograph of the Republican nominee placed in

The Campaign and Bible Institute.

In order to inform the Baptists of Kentucky in a better way, the State Board has planned a series of Bible Institutes to be held at different cities and towns in the State. The first was held at Owensboro, the week of October 5th to 12th. The second is in progress at Ashland. As a demonstration of the blessings coming from the Campaign, the people of Owensboro and vicinity were engaged in an all-day conference the first Monday, and at the evening service Dr. W. M. Nevins of Louisville spoke and led in a consecration Service, and it was not only largely attended but was considered by those present as one of the greatest hours in Baptist history in this section of the State. Following his sermon, Rev. J. R. Black spoke on "Helping Lift the World into the Light," and the people are ready not only in Owensboro but all over Kentucky to have a great part in this Campaign.
